

Sassy Seats in Willow Glen

Calling All Young Artists!! Competition for local children to design new imagery to be painted on our local bus benches!

The competition theme is “Nature on the Avenue.” We are looking for local children to design creative and imaginative imagery that best describes what this means to them. This is the second iteration of this, same named, event that was originally founded by the Willow Glen Beautification Committee.

1. Each winner will either need to paint their design on the specified bench, or allow a local corporate team to sponsor the painting of the bench. All supplies will be given to the child by the sponsor and/or the Willow Glen Business Association (WGBA) Our Avenue Committee (OAC).
2. Each entry must be hand drawn by the child, must be completely the child’s own original work and must not copy any other work. Unfortunately, drawings which copy other artwork will be disqualified. Drawings must be flat; so no collages, materials or textures. Please also avoid the use of fluorescent inks or highlighter pens.

3. You can use photocopies of the official entry forms.
4. We encourage the entrants to use lots of color (no black and white images please).
5. After the designs have been completed, please ensure that the name of the child, their age and the school they attend are added to each entry form.
6. Sorry, we may not be able to return any entries, so please remember to make a copy of each design!
7. Entries are required to be mailed to or dropped off at:

WGBA Our Avenue Committee

Attn: Stacey Houghton

1026 Lincoln Ave, San Jose, CA 95125

9. The closing date for submission of entries is Friday, October 31st 2014. Please ensure that all entries are sent in or dropped off well before this date.

10. You may also drop off your submission during the Trick or Treat event in downtown Willow Glen on Lincoln Ave. October 31st from 2:30-4pm at the bus bunch in front of the Splash Works shop. (Tie dye colored bench)

10. If you have any questions please email/phone stacey@valleypaintingparites.com or phone (408) 242-1744.
